FEATURES

BEARS WHO CARE 6 PREMIERE ON THE DISNEY CHANNEL

The bears are cute and the faraway pastel fantasyland of Care-a-Lot in "The Care Bears Movie" is certainly appealing, but psychologists say The Care Bears also speak to youngsters in a deeper way.

8 THE SAGA OF DAVY CROCKETT

On the occasion of Davy's 200th birthday, we salute Disney's duo from the wild frontier—Fess Parker and Buddy Ebsen. Some years have passed since the Davy craze, and Fess and Buddy have a few sagas of their own to tell.

10 LAKE WOBEGON: WRY HUMOR FROM THE HEART OF THE HEARTLAND

Garrison Keillor created both the town of Lake Wobegon and the popular country-style variety radio show about life there—"A Prairie Home Companion." A special videotaped edition of that show premieres on The Disney Channel.

14 TOTALLY MINNIE

She's had a long, successful career, but today she's more popular than ever before. In this year of Minnie Mouse, she has come into her own, acquiring a hip new wardrobe and a solidly booked calendar.

☒ PARENT TRAP II

Twenty-five years after Hayley Mills' popular "The Parent Trap," she's back playing the twins grown up, in this World Television Premiere.

☒ LAKE WOBEGON COMES TO DISNEY

Garrison Keillor's program of humor and country music brings to the TV screen all of the homespun flavor that has delighted millions of radio fans for over 10 years.

☒ THE SHAGGY D.A.

Combine Disney character actors and special-effects wizardry and you have this funny film, about a zealous lawyer who keeps turning into a shaggy dog.

☒ THE CARE BEARS MOVIE

The little bears fight against evil in the world by using their good feelings in this World Television Premiere.

IN PRAISE OF NEW PROGRAM LISTINGS

Thank you for improving your scheduling guide. It's so easy to read at a glance. I love to have something that's quick and easy to read, what with a four year old and a seven year old constantly asking: "What's on The Disney Channel, Mommy?"

Sandra Anderson

SERIES' SCHEDULING

I hope you know some people go to church and school. Some people also happen to like "Danger Bay." And some people never get to watch it because they're at school or church.

Could you please put "Danger Bay" on when I can see it? I think Christopher Crabb is the most awesomely cutest creature on earth.

Beryl Brandon
Paducah, KY

The Disney Channel has created a new schedule that gives each series its own regular weekly time slot. For instance, you can see "Danger Bay" every Wednesday evening at 8:30 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time), following "The Edison Twins." If you can't make that time, that same episode of "Danger Bay" will also air the following Sunday at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time).

MOUNTAIN TIME ZONE LISTINGS

Your new format is fine, except for the children of those of us who live in the Mountain Time zone. They find it confusing to have to add one hour to the listed times.

Thank you for giving us a channel that we can all enjoy.

Jackie Rundio
Phoenix, AZ

Mountain Time zone listings for our daily children's programming can be found in "The Kids' Grid," located in our new, expanded "Just for Kids" section.

TOTALLY MINNIE IS A DOLL

A DISNEY WEEKEND TRADITION

When we first started to receive The Disney Channel, we watched it constantly—our son and daughter, ages six and four, hated to go to bed and miss any of the programs. We decided to let them sleep in front of the television, and so was born our "Saturday Night Campout." We all spread our sleeping bags and pillows on the family-room floor, make popcorn, and settle in for an evening of Disney programming.

Even though they fall asleep at 10 p.m., we don't mind our children staying up late once a week, especially when the programs are of such high quality as The Disney Channel's. Thank you for the fun you've brought to our family.

CHANGING CHILDREN'S ATTITUDES

Until we signed up for The Disney Channel my boys, ages five and eight, only watched robot cartoons and violent shows. I wondered about what happened to TV. It surely wasn't being made for children anymore.

Now my boys only watch The Disney Channel, and their attitude has changed 100 percent. I'm so happy to see them enjoying fun cartoons.

THE EMPORIUM RETURNS

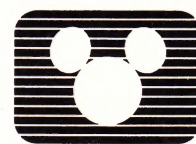

I would like to know when you are going to publish another Disney Channel Emporium? I very much like to buy things from your magazine. Also, I would like to purchase a book called "Walt Disney's Treasury of Children's Classics." Could you tell me where I can obtain this book?

If you'll turn to page 12, you'll find the book in the new Minnie Mall, an improved version of our old Disney Channel Emporium, which provides you with great savings and terrific Disney values.

One of The Magic Kingdom's premiere evening events—The Main Street Electrical Parade—is the subject of "Backstage Disney" (see What's On, which begins on page 25, for capsule descriptions of Disney Channel programs). The special, hosted by Michael Young, goes behind-the-scenes to reveal what it takes to design, create, and stage the stunning spectacle.

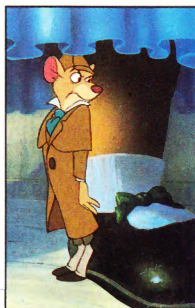

What's life like after a shipwreck? You can discover the answer by touring the recently renovated Swiss Family Treehouse in Adventureland. The attraction was inspired by the arboreal mansion depicted in "Swiss Family Robinson."

Two new made-for-The Disney Channel movies are in production: "Spot Marks the X" stars Mike the Dog of this year's biggest comedy hit "Down and Out in Beverly Hills." Mike portrays a canine criminal (already guilty of scene stealing) who is adopted by mistake by an 11-year-old boy.

"Down The Long Hills" is based on the great Western writer Louis L'Amour's best-selling novel of the same title. L'Amour's "The Cherokee Trail" served as the basis of "Five Mile Creek," the popular Disney Channel series which encloses in September.

Also in production is "The Young Vaudevillians," a Disney Channel special filmed in San Francisco that focuses on a festival featuring the United States' finest comedians, jugglers and mimes.

The Great Mouse Detective," which chronicles the adventures of the super-sleuth Basil of Baker Street, premieres in theaters across the country on July 2. It's the 26th animated feature from The Walt Disney Company.

Peter Coyote, star of The Disney Channel film, "The Blue Yonder," joins Shelley Long and Bette Midler in the cast of "Outrageous Fortune," a Touchstone Films presentation, written by Leslie Dixon and directed by Arthur Hiller.

Where do you put a MAGIC KINGDOM?

Walt Disney's idea for an amusement area where the entire family could have fun together took form first in a 1948 memo, in which the name chosen was Mickey Mouse Park.

At the Disney Studio in Burbank in the early 1950s, there was more land than was needed for studio purposes. Walt first thought that his park could be built there, on a triangular section across from the Studio proper. It soon became evident, however, that the studio land was not large enough for all the attractions Walt was planning. After a year of research and negotiations, Walt announced the purchase of some 145 acres in Anaheim, California, as the site for Disneyland.

The Magic Kingdom opened July 17, 1955, on what Walt referred to for evermore as Black Sunday. Guests began arriving at noon, cars were backed up for seven miles, many of the rides and attractions were closed while TV technicians took them over for live television coverage, and ladies wearing high heel shoes sank into the freshly poured asphalt on Main Street. Still, the general feeling was that Disneyland was an unqualified success and in 1958 Walt commissioned research to determine the most favorable location for another Disneyland east of the Mississippi. On November 15, 1965, Walt told reporters at a press conference in Orlando, Florida, that his company had acquired options on 27,000 acres of nearby land on which he planned to build a model community, "a City of Tomorrow."

Although Walt did not live to see it, the Magic Kingdom at Walt Disney World opened October 1, 1971. Epcot Center, a demonstration and proving ground for prototype concepts and technologies, opened 11 years later, on October 1, 1982. Walt Disney World continues to advance as the most spectacular entertainment complex in America.

The search for the site for Tokyo Disneyland was a relatively easy one. A plot of land was reclaimed from Tokyo Bay and made available by the Japanese government to the Oriental Land Company for a recreational purpose. Any concern that Disney theme park appeal might be a uniquely American phenomenon was thoroughly and permanently dispelled when, on April 15, 1983, Tokyo Disneyland opened and instantly became the most remarkable entertainment success story in the history of the Orient.

In the mid-1980s, Disney turned its sights to Europe. The success of a Disneyland in Japan persuaded the company that a Euro Disneyland would do well also. After many months of studies and preliminary negotiations which narrowed down the search to Spain and France, the area of Marne-la-Vallee, a new town development about 20 miles east of Paris, was chosen. While final negotiations are still going on with the French government, it will be 1990 or 1991 before the first entertainment attractions are ready to open. The Disney team involved in the site selection is confident that, for the fourth time, a perfect location for a Disney park has been found. ♥

BEARS WHO CARE

Premiere on the Disney Channel

♥ Somewhere over the rainbow, beyond the fluffiest clouds and into the realm of sparkling stars, lies an enchanting place called Care-a-Lot. It's the home of the Care Bears, and The Disney Channel is happy to take you there with our exclusive world television premiere of "The Care Bears Movie." The Disney Channel is also presenting "The Care Bears" series, which in coming weeks will feature a new episode every Saturday and Sunday morning. (Episodes will air at other times of the week as well.)

The Care Bears personify positive human attributes like bravery, trust, leadership, caring, and love. They were introduced in 1981 as greeting card and storybook characters. Their cuddly appeal, optimistic personalities, and their many ways of expressing love and friendship won the hearts of families everywhere. Before long the Care Bears and their Cousins were starring on television. Their first home video cassette, released in 1983, stayed at the top of the charts for months and they're slated for a new Saturday morning TV series, premiering this fall.

The Care Bears were created by Those Characters From Cleveland, a group of people in the greeting card business who knew how to communicate with children. "They could write the kind of sentiments that parents wanted to tell children, like Happy Birthday, Get Well, and We Miss You, in words that children understood," says their vice president of entertainment and marketing communications, Harvey Levin. "Bear designs were always very important, because the group knew that children, in communicating with each other, identified with bears as friendly spokespeople. They recognized the classic popularity of teddy bears, but what they did was to take the brown bear and make him colorful and exciting, the kind of bear a kid in the 1980s could relate to."

Child psychologists and magazines have picked up on the Care Bears because of the solid, upbeat message they convey. A magazine competition to find youngsters who demonstrated outstanding examples of caring, loving, and sharing was won by (among others) an eight-year-old girl who started a library in an orphanage, a victim of cerebral palsy who spent her time helping similarly afflicted children, and a boy who saved his family during a house fire by employing safety procedures he had learned from the fire department.

"The Care Bears Movie" follows the adventures of the Bears and their Cousins as they try to keep the world safe for caring against the efforts of an evil force bent on making the children of Earth unhappy.

"Children feel helpless because their parents themselves often have difficulty dealing with the outside world," says April Gaynor, director of the Center for Adolescent Therapy in Encino, California.

"A film such as 'The Care Bears Movie' can instill a sense of responsibility in children, a sense of reaching out, a sense that they're not so helpless after all, that love does help.

"It says that if we're going to do something about the evil in the world, we need to take responsibility and band together. Somebody has to make the first move, even if it's only a child or a small pastel bear." 🐻

Love and sharing are what the Care Bears and their Cousins stand for, even when storm clouds gather and danger threatens

THE SAGA OF DAVY CROCKETT

Fess Parker and Buddy Ebsen —
Disney's duo from the Wild Frontier — have sagas of their own to tell.

On August 17th, the state of Tennessee celebrates Davy Crockett's 200th birthday with a weekend bash near the old Crockett homestead in Greene County. In July The Disney Channel salutes the bear-wrasslin', Indian-fightin' statesman and patriot with "The Saga of Davy Crockett," a five-part mini-series starring Fess Parker as Davy and Buddy Ebsen as his intrepid sidekick, Georgie Russel.

It's been 32 years since Fess and Buddy started the craze that put a coonskin cap on virtually every youngster's head, and caused a national earache with the endlessly rendered "Ballad of Davy Crockett." They also began a friendship that exists to this day, although their professional paths have parted widely.

In 1960, at the peak of his popularity, Fess moved to Santa Barbara, California. Business interests gradually overtook his acting career and, after six seasons of playing Daniel Boone on TV, he stopped acting altogether. Among his many enterprises are mobile-home communities, commercial real estate, a 2,500-acre ranch where he raises specially-bred cattle and, scheduled to open in October, a multi-million-dollar resort hotel/conference center on 24 acres of downtown Santa Barbara beachfront.

"Now, for the first time in years, I'm without a demanding project," Fess said recently. "And so I'm thinking about returning to the motion-picture industry. That was my first love, and you never forget your first love."

"I have a number of ideas for original stories which I've presented to the new generation of filmmakers at The Walt Disney Company. Who knows? After all that time, I may be back among friends at the studio again."

Buddy Ebsen, on the other hand, has never left acting. He has starred in long-running TV series like "The Beverly Hillbillies" and "Barnaby Jones," and, when not before the cameras, he often travels on entertainment-related business. A recent whirlwind tour took him to Atlanta, Phoenix, Palm Beach, New Orleans, Kansas City, New York and Washington on matters as disparate as the dedication of a memorial hospital and public appearances in behalf of Better Hearing and Speech Month. He is also writing a musical, updating his book, "Polynesian Concept," for republication, and completing his autobiography, "The Other Side of Oz," which covers his 57 years in show business.

"Now, for the first time in years, I'm thinking of returning to the motion picture industry."

The title may derive from Buddy's conviction that he can be seen as the Tin Man in "The Wizard of Oz." He was the original choice for the role, but after 10 days of shooting, an allergy to the aluminum dust that covered his skin put him in the hospital for six weeks. Jack Haley replaced him, wearing an improved, non-allergenic aluminum paste.

"The ten days I was on the picture cost $25,000, big money in those days," Buddy says. "I just know they didn't throw the long shots away. I can't prove it, but I'm convinced I'm in that movie someplace."

Buddy's role in "The Saga of Davy Crockett" brought him back to the Disney Studio where, three years earlier, he had performed a demonstration dance with a mechanical model that led to Walt Disney's celebrated Audio-Animatronics figures. After "The Saga of Davy Crockett," he returned to his musical roots (he was a dancer in vaudeville and on Broadway) in Disney's "One and Only, Genuine, Original Family Band," also airing in July on The Disney Channel.

"I can't prove it, but I'm convinced I'm in 'The Wizard of Oz' somewhere."

"I met Walt Disney at M-G-M in 1935," Buddy recalls. "He had a couple of cans of cartoon films under his arm to show Louis B. Mayer. I guess he was hoping M-G-M would distribute them. I was wearing a Mickey Mouse sweatshirt, and maybe that put me on his good list, because he did keep me busy — and I enjoyed working for him over the years." 🐭

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY

PEWTER SCULPTURE

Fully clad in copper from the actual Statue of Liberty

The Danbury Mint is proud to offer a magnificent pewter sculpture of the Statue of Liberty, entirely clad in copper from the actual Statue in New York harbor! Indeed, a collectible of such meaning, beauty and interest may never come your way again.

Commemorating the 100th anniversary of the world's most famous symbol of freedom and liberty

In 1886, President Grover Cleveland dedicated the Statue of Liberty, a gift from France honoring our democratic traditions. Today, the Statue of Liberty is being restored. In July, 1986, her centennial, she will be rededicated. The Danbury Mint is offering this beautiful sculpture in honor of this historic occasion.

Fully clad in copper from the actual Statue of Liberty

As the Statue of Liberty is refurbished, some of the copper must be removed. This has been made available to the Danbury Mint, and is being incorporated into each sculpture. Each will be fully clad in copper which until very recently was part of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor! Moreover, the copper will be finished to replicate the weathered green patina of the venerable Lady.

Handcrafted with precision in American pewter

Each sculpture is meticulously crafted from rich American pewter, unsurpassed in its dignity. No other metal could have imparted to this sculpture the same noble bearing and stateliness.

Your purchase contributes to the Statue of Liberty's restoration

You'll be pleased to know that a percentage of the sculpture's purchase price will be contributed to the Statue of Liberty — Ellis Island Foundation, Inc. Consequently, your purchase contributes to the Statue of Liberty's restoration. Accompanying your sculpture will be a Certificate of Authentic Materials, signed by Lee A. Iacocca, the Foundation's chairman.

A meaningful and unique heirloom

The original issue price of The Statue of Liberty Pewter Sculpture — complete with hardwood pedestal — is $150. This is an exceptional value when you consider that its authentic copper could make it irreplaceable in the years to come.

You will always be remembered for bringing this magnificent heirloom into your family. Don't miss this once in a lifetime opportunity, send in your reservation today!

LAKE WOBEGON COMES TO DISNEY

Warmth, Joy, And Wry Humor From The Heart Of The Heartland

Just exactly where — and what — is Lake Wobegon? Why, it's a tiny farming hamlet that lies right smack dab in the middle of Mist County, Minnesota. And according to Garrison Keillor, the creator of Lake Wobegon and "A Prairie Home Companion," the hit Minnesota Public Radio variety show which revolves around the town, Lake Wobegon is a place "that time forgot, that the decades cannot improve, where all the women are strong, all the men are good-looking, and all the children are above-average." Lake Wobegon, in short, is the very spirit of the American Midwest.

All the warmth, joy, and humor of life in this heart of the heartland comes to The Disney Channel on June 29, at 9:00 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time) with the premiere of "Lake Wobegon Comes to Disney." It's a special program that captures Garrison Keillor's unique form of storytelling and musical entertainment. Videotaped before a live audience in St. Paul's World Theater, "Lake Wobegon Comes to Disney" is a truly unique edition of "A Prairie Home Companion," which is heard by more than four million listeners per week throughout the United States and is now broadcast to Australia as well.

The show's trademark is Garrison Keillor's rendition of Hank Snow's "Hello Love," followed by an account of the week's doings in Lake Wobegon, a monologue which always begins with "Well, it's been a quiet week in Lake Wobegon, my hometown." Then there are musical acts such as the great country and western guitarist Chet Atkins, yodelers, Scots folklorists, even gospel choirs, all punctuated by comic commercials from the show's fictional sponsors.

And what sponsors! There's Powdermilk Biscuits, one of Lake Wobegon's major businesses. They manufacture biscuits made from whole-wheat flour grown by Lake Wobegon's bachelor Norwegian farmers. Then there's Bertha's Kitty Boutique, where you can purchase Gatto Gellato, The Fearmonger's Shop, and The Minnesota Language Association, which teaches one and all how to say "Yup" properly. And those are only the show's sponsors. Keillor's monologues also feature such landmarks of Wobegonian life as Bob's Bank, housed in a green mobile home right on Main Street, the Chatterbox Cafe, and Ralph's Pretty Good Grocery.

Keillor, a writer whose humorous pieces on life in the Midwest have appeared in "The New Yorker" and "Atlantic Monthly" magazines, first conceived "A Prairie Home Companion" in 1974. The germ of the idea came to him while on assignment to write a piece about that great American institution, The Grand Ole Opry. The actual physical monotony of writing led him to envision creating, and performing in, an old-fashioned musical radio show like the Opry of the '30s and '40s.

"I was trying to support a family by freelance writing," Keillor recalls. "Beyond the difficulty of selling enough fiction to put food on the table and clothes on our backs, I had another problem that is common to writers, and that was stupor. You can sit in an empty room and look at blank paper for only so long each day.

"Other writers learn to take up carpentry or gardening or golf. I took up this show as my recreation. Writing keeps you honest, performing keeps you sane."

And perform Keillor does. In addition to warbling the theme song of "A Prairie Home Companion," he frequently joins in with his guests. Having grown up in a conservative, religious family, his voice was trained on hymns. And as mentioned before, the musical acts featured on the program are as diverse as America itself. Still, Keillor does admit that the show eschews two forms of musical entertainment: he professes an "irrational dislike" for banjos and operatic sopranos.

Probably the most popular part of "A Prairie Home Companion" remains Keillor's accounts of the antic adventures of the citizens of Lake Wobegon. The mythical hamlet — if it really is mythical — grew out of Keillor's memories of small-town life. He recounts the town's news and gossip with a unique brand of humor that causes one to recall James Thurber and Mark Twain.

"I figured that if I was going to do anything well on the show it would probably be comedy, my singing voice then not even being as good as it is now," Keillor explains. "I figured that comedy at least is a form of writing, so I would stand a chance."

"Over the first couple of years, failure at stand-up comedy drove me to storytelling. I started out telling true stories from my childhood, dressed up as fiction, and then discovered Lake Wobegon as a place to set them so as to put more distance between them and the innocent persons I was talking about."

Keillor's insightful tales of life in Lake Wobegon have also made a successful transition from radio to print. His book "Lake Wobegon Days" was a surprise smash hit when first published last summer, and it remains on the best-seller lists. The book gives a full account of the town of Lake Wobegon from its founding. It even explains how Lake Wobegon came to be left off Minnesota's maps. When the legislature ordered a land survey, it was done in quadrants, working from the borders towards the state's center. When all was done, an overlap was noticed. "Who ever heard of Lake Wobegon?" the cry went up. The legislature voted the overlap out of existence, and Lake Wobegon vanished.

Of course if you're Mayor Clint Bunsen, or Senator Knute Thorvaldson (he's definitely not a real senator), such things don't matter. And for four million other Americans — and now subscribers to The Disney Channel — Lake Wobegon exists, thanks to Garrison Keillor. Of course, even Keillor wonders if Lake Wobegon is real.

"I once dreamed I drove over a hill in central Minnesota and found it. In the dream, they weren't very happy to see me, but they managed to be polite. I was invited to somebody's house for dinner—then I woke up." 🍷

MINNIE TOTALLY

Minnie Mouse has a new look. The Walt Disney Company is paying homage to Mickey's perennial sweetie and leading lady with a year-long "Totally Minnie" multi-media extravaganza. You'll see and hear thoroughly modern Minnie in new movies, on new records and cassettes, modeling contemporary clothes, and as the star of special events everywhere.

Minnie has had a long, successful career. Created at the same time as Mickey Mouse, she and Mickey share the same "birth date" of November 18, 1928, when their first sound cartoon, "Steamboat Willie," opened at the Colony Theater in New York. Over the years she appeared in more than half of Mickey's 119 cartoons, usually playing his long-suffering, level-headed girlfriend devoted to keeping Mickey from making a fool of himself. Although they were never "married," Mickey dreamed that they were in "Mickey's Nightmare" (1932), and there is a song sheet from England entitled "The Wedding of Mister Mickey Mouse" (1933). The first Disney song to be released on sheet music was "Minnie's Yoo Hoo" (1930). It had been featured in the 1929 Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mickey's Follies," became the theme song for the original Mickey Mouse Clubs, and was used as the theme song of "The Mouse Factory," a cartoon series

Minnie Mouse merchandise has been popular for years, and the early pieces are quite collectible today. Minnie plush dolls have been made since the early 1930s, and a new line of them is being introduced for the "Totally Minnie" celebration.

Minnie was featured with Mickey on the famous handcar which saved Lionel (toy trains) from bankruptcy in 1934 by selling 274,000 units during the Christmas season. Over the decades there have been Minnie figurines, toothbrush holders, jewelry items, purses, greeting cards, clothing and silverware, and today Minnie's likeness appears on more than a hundred items of licensed merchandise including limited edition plates, Christmas ornaments, figurines, toys, and extensive lines of clothing.

There have been several Disney books featuring Minnie, including "The Pop-Up Minnie Mouse" (1933), "The Story of Minnie Mouse" (1938), "Minnie Mouse and the Antique Chair" (1948), "Minnie Cleans Up" (1978), and "Minnie Mouse's Counting Book" (1984). This year she's the star of "Totally Minnie," a hot new record album with 10 exciting songs ranging from "Hey Mickey" to "Let's Get Together" (from "The Parent Trap") performed by the entire Disney gang.

Since 1955, Minnie has joined Mickey as one of the official hosts of Disneyland. Each day she can be found greeting guests and posing for photographs. Her duties expanded with the opening of Walt Disney World in 1971 and Tokyo Disneyland in 1983. She has been prominently featured in the "Disney on Parade" shows, which began in 1969, and the Disney ice shows, currently on tour.

Not quite as vocal as Mickey but talkative nevertheless, Minnie is enjoying her year of the Mouse. "I'm having a ball discovering everything I can do — and be!" she says. "Each day is a major event. My calendar's booked, the limo's waiting, and I'm ready to go! Who knows what I'll be up to next? Lately, I even surprise myself!" ♡

Minnie Mouse merchandise continues to be popular after more than 50 years

The Black Hole

"The Black Hole" is the best Disney movie I've seen. What I like about it is all the action. What I can't believe is that it took 60 months to plan and 14 months to make. My favorite part is where the five members of the U.S.S. Palomino crew struggle across the wrecked Cygnus to get away in the probe ship.

When I read the little article that tells about the movie, what gave me the chills was where it said, "an odyssey that begins where everything ends."

A Disney Poem

One day Walt Disney was at his desk,
Creating new animation.
The character he drew then and there
Then stole the heart of the nation.
Countless others would follow the trail

Blazed by this little guy.
He wasn't a big grizzly bear, but
He wasn't what you'd call "small fry."
He'd end up having companions like Faithful Pluto, and lovely Minnie.
How do you spell his name? Well...
M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E!
It's Mickey Mouse!

A Kitten

He's nothing much but fur
And two round eyes of blue,
He has a giant purr
And a midget mew

He darts and pats the air,
He starts and cocks his ear,
When there is nothing there
For him to see and hear

He runs around in rings,
But why we cannot tell;
With sideways leaps he springs
At things invisible

Then halfway through a leap
His startled eyeballs close,
And he drops off to sleep
With one paw on his nose.

Animation From Around The World

Animated movies are made all over the world. And people everywhere love them, because they're colorful and musical. But just as people of different nationalities look different, one from another, so does animation vary from culture to culture. Two animated films currently on The Disney Channel were made in foreign countries, one in Japan and the other in Spain. In addition, our regularly scheduled "The Wind in the Willows" series is from England, and "The Raccoons" come from Canada.

 "The Fantastic Adventures of Unico" is Japanese animation, with all of the mystery of the Orient. The white flowing West Wind sweeps up Unico, a small unicorn with special powers, and carries him to a beautiful land of eerie blue mountains and mists, surrounded by surging seas. There he's safe from the angry gods who fear his power.

 "Katy," the caterpillar, comes from Spain. Her land is filled with bold, hot colors and the lively rhythms of steel guitars. Katy (a beloved cartoon character in Latin America) leaves her boring home in the cherry tree, to look for excitement in the big world. She dances along to a Spanish beat, and is soon surfing with a bunch of fun-loving chameleons, using large leaves to take the waves. Her bright-colored adventures continue — some fun, some scary — until she returns to the cherry tree, where her life takes an unexpected turn.

 "The Wind in the Willows" is set in a cooler clime and a gentler time — the English countryside of 80 years ago. Toad, Rat, Mole, and Badger are perfect English gentlemen, well dressed in fine English clothes, and well spoken in dandy British accents. They enjoy picnics and boating on the river. Only Toad and his speeding motor cars disrupt the peace. But noisy or quiet, the mood is definitely English.

 "The Raccoons" lead simple lives in the Canadian woods, although it's not so simple when Cyril Sneer's around! But life in their beautiful Evergreen Forest is rustic and filled with outdoors adventures: camping and fishing in the summer, ice-skating in the winter.

Animation takes us to far off lands, and its magical make-believe is loved the world over. 🐻

Find It In the Library

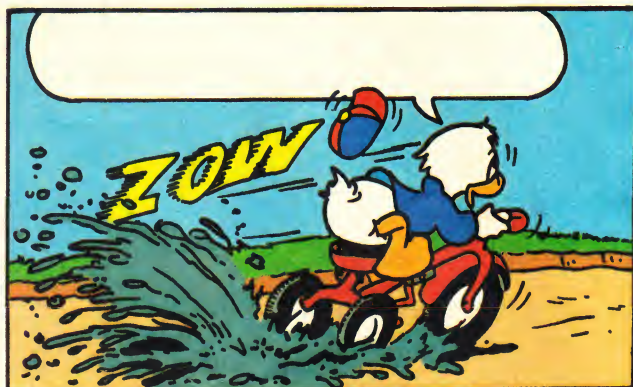

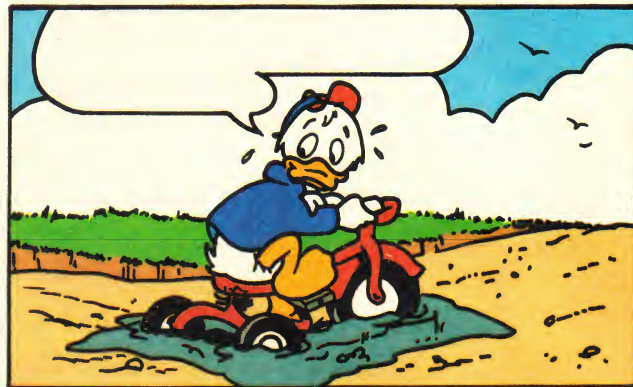

Many wonderful movies and television series have been made from stories that were originally written as books. Here are several Disney Channel programs that are based on extremely popular books.

Swiss Family Robinson is adapted from the classic adventure story written by Johann Wyss. He told the tale episode by episode to his four sons, and only after his death was the manuscript published.

Toby Tyler or Ten Weeks With a Circus is the film version of James Otis Kaler's book about Toby's adventures and heartbreak when he ran off to join the circus. Kaler's book was such a success that he gave up a career in journalism to devote himself to writing books for children.

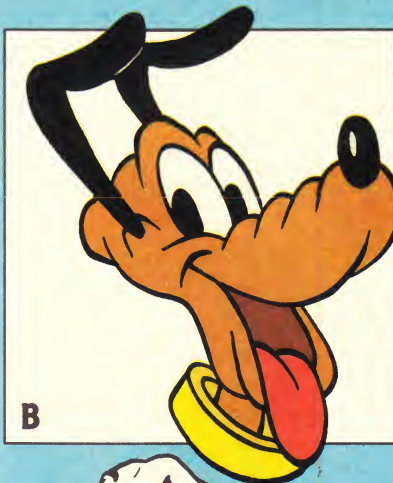

Island of Adventure was made from a mystery story about four teenagers on the island of Gloom, written by Enid Blyton in 1938. She wrote hundreds of books, and is the most translated children's author in the world.

DAVY CROCKETT

This summer Davy's home state is celebrating his 200th birthday. The famous pioneer statesman was born in the state that took its name from the small Cherokee settlement of Tanasi.

Nearly half of our 50 states took their names from the Indian languages and from the names of Indian tribes. How many of the states on this page can you name?

Our Pilgrim fathers first landed in America in a state which was named after a famous Algonquin tribe.

The Ute Indians, long famed for their brave warriors, were responsible for naming the state that is best known today for its Great Salt Lake.

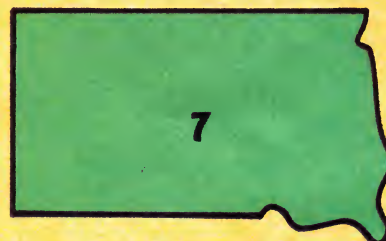

The Michigamea tribe is credited with naming both a state and a famous lake.

Another state received its name from the Indian words meaning "Great Muddy," which were used to describe the river running through it...

...and because of the vast river which ran through a neighboring state, the Indians called the state "Misi" meaning great, and "sipi" which means water.

One of the most powerful of the Sioux tribes gave us the names of two states.

The well-known "land of sky blue water" took its name from the Dakota word meaning "whitish or sky-tinted water."

The Indians even named one of our states after themselves — when translated, the name of one of our largest southwestern states means "The Red People."

A midwestern farm state and a river within it take their names from the tribes of loway Indians that roamed the area.

AMERICANA Weekend

The Disney Channel is celebrating the Fourth of July with its own Americana Weekend, beginning Friday at 4:30 p.m. It includes three evenings of music; animation; tales of American folk heroes, from Johnny Applesseed to baseball hero Monty Stratton; and Disneyland's bright lights from our special "Backstage Disney: The Main Street Electrical Parade."

We've scheduled entertaining movies the whole family will love. Some of them will make you laugh, others may bring a tear to your eye, but all of them are a tribute to the great American spirit. And for a cynical but sentimental look at our small-town roots, don't miss the WGBH/American

Playhouse production of Jean Shepherd's

"The Great American Fourth of July and Other Disasters."

PARENT TRAP II

The exclusive world premiere of "Parent Trap II" on The Disney Channel is a very special occasion. It has been 25 years since Hayley Mills starred in "The Parent Trap," and now she's back, reprising her dual role as identical twins Susan and Sharon grown up. This time, though, the mischief-making matchmaker is Sharon's daughter Nikki.

Stu Krieger, a lifelong fan of Hayley's, collaborated on the screenplay for "Parent Trap II" as a sort of tribute to her. Watch for the Hayley and Disney trivia sprinkled throughout.

THE SHAGGY D.A.

Movies don't come much more zany than this Disney comedy about a lawyer who without warning turns into a sheep dog. What's more, it happens at inopportune moments during his campaign for district attorney. Premiering exclusively on The Disney Channel, the film stars Dean Jones and Suzanne Pleshette.

THE BEST OF WALT DISNEY PRESENTS

We have two special shows filled with Disney reminiscences. Airing on July 3, "Mouseketeer Reunion" — the show which brought the group together after 25 years. And on the occasion of Disneyland's 31st birthday on July 17, we're showing "The Disneyland Story," which originally aired in 1954.

BOB HOPE THEATRE

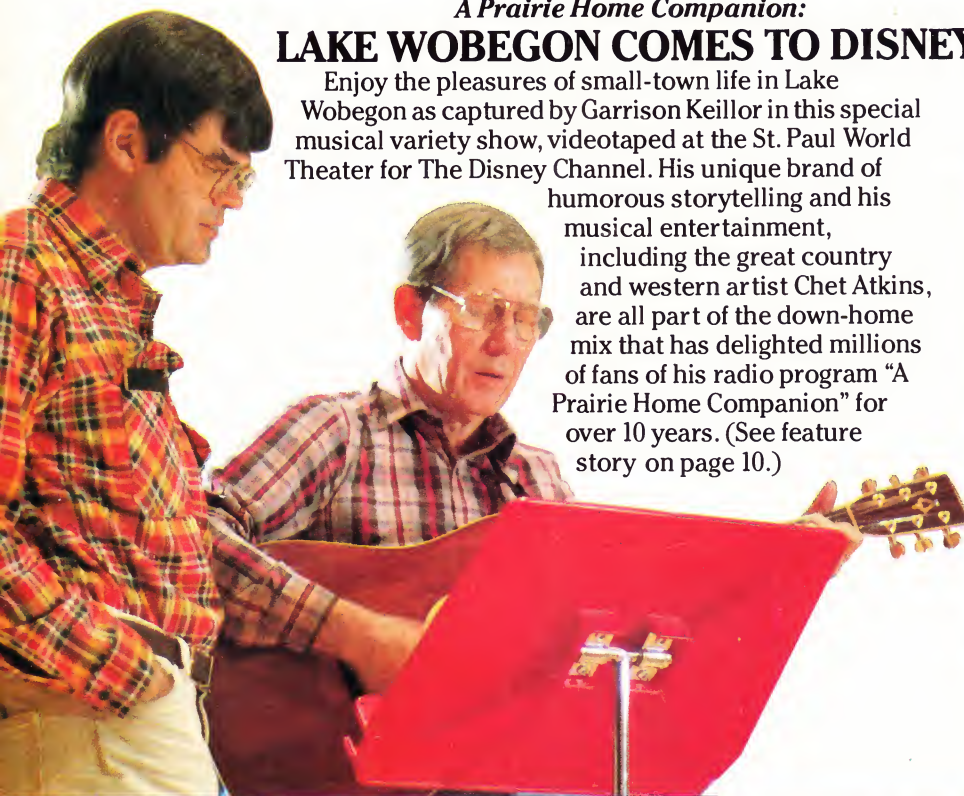

The Disney Channel's "Bob Hope Theatre" continues with exclusive premieres of riotous Hope classics every other Saturday night: "The Seven Little Foys," about vaudevillian Eddie Foy (Bob Hope) and his performing children; and "The Great Lover," with Rhonda Fleming, and "My Favorite Brunette," with Dorothy Lamour — both films with Hope playing a bumbling innocent up against big-time trouble.

SUMMER PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

A Prairie Home Companion:

LAKE WOBEGON COMES TO DISNEY

Enjoy the pleasures of small-town life in Lake Wobegon as captured by Garrison Keillor in this special musical variety show, videotaped at the St. Paul World Theater for The Disney Channel. His unique brand of humorous storytelling and his musical entertainment, including the great country and western artist Chet Atkins, are all part of the down-home mix that has delighted millions of fans of his radio program "A Prairie Home Companion" for over 10 years. (See feature story on page 10.)

HERE'S BOOMER

A new series premieres on June 30 starring "Boomer," a vagabond dog who never stays with one person long, but brightens the lives of everyone he meets. A different adventure of the freedom-loving pooch will air each Monday at 8:30 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time), following "Still the Beaver."

GALLEGHER

Follow the chilling escapades of a fearless copyboy in our 10-part mini-series beginning on Tuesday, July 8, at 8:00 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time). The continuing episodes are scheduled on following Tuesdays. In the big-city, horse-and-buggy days of the 1890s, when copyboys ran the news from on-the-spot reporters to editors, Gallagher, a daring teenaged copyboy, is determined to become a great newspaper reporter. In tracking down leads to news-breaking stories, he invariably ends up in the thick of trouble, but he frequently nails down the story when seasoned reporters have failed.

THE SAGA OF DAVY CROCKETT

The exciting adventures of The King of the Wild Frontier begin on The Disney Channel on Friday, July 4. The 5-part mini-series will continue with different episodes each Friday at 8:00 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time). With Fess Parker as Davy and Buddy Ebsen as his sidekick George Russel, the two fight for justice wherever they go. First, they rid their Tennessee town of a troublemaking thief. Then they go on to Washington, D. C. when Davy's elected to Congress. After fighting for the Alamo in Texas, they become the legendary heroes of more adventures with folklore figures like Mike Fink.

BELLS ARE RINGING

Judy Holliday, in her last film role, portrays a daffy telephone answering-service operator who becomes involved with her clients (Dean Martin and Jean Stapleton) in this Disney Channel premiere.
June 22, 25; July 7, 12, 21

THE GOLD BUG

Anthony Michael Hall and Geoffrey Holder hunt for pirate gold in this exclusive premiere based on Edgar Allan Poe's immortal detective story.
June 22, 27; July 14, 20, 27

THE CARE BEARS MOVIE

The pastel-colored Care Bears, who represent human feelings and emotions, and their Cousins join a quest to conquer the evil spirit that is destroying love and caring throughout the world. The delightful film features Mickey Rooney as narrator, Carole King singing the title song, and Georgia Engel as Love-a-Lot Bear.
June 28; July 1, 6, 11, 17, 22, 26

THE CRUEL SEA

Jack Hawkins, Donald Sinden, Stanley Baker, and Denholm Elliott ("Bleak House") star in this realistic drama of life aboard a British escort ship during World War II.
June 23, 29; July 3, 15, 23

PENNY PRINCESS

A New Yorker (Yolande Donlan) inherits a principality, only to discover she's faced with a sagging local economy! June 24, 28, 30; July 3, 11, 23, 27

Paris Holiday: Bob Hope is a producer in France.

June 22, 25, 27; July 7

The Secret Of NIMH: A mouse discovers a secret society of rats. June 23, 26; July 2, 11, 16

The Trail Of Danger: A rancher and his cowhand clash with sheepherders. June 24, 27

Young Bess: The future queen faces court intrigue. June 25, 28; July 10

Royal Wedding: A pair of dancers find love and happiness. June 23, 27

The Private Life of Henry VIII: The life and scandals of one of England's kings. (This film will only be shown after 9:00 p.m. Eastern/Pacific times.) June 22

THIS WEEK

♥ James Whitmore portrays the great American President Theodore Roosevelt in "Bully!" premiering Thursday night at 9:00 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time).

♥ Monday at 8:00 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time) The Beaver finds himself out of work in "Escape from the Salt Mines" on "Still the Beaver."

GALLEGHER

A rugged city kid, Gallegher takes his newspaper job to heart and often noses his way into trouble, tracking clues about bank robbers, crime syndicates and the like, in the beginning episodes of our 10-part mini-series. Later episodes chronicle his adventures when he heads west with dreams of becoming a frontier-town reporter.

SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON

There's enough suspense, laughter and romance in this movie to suit every armchair traveler. The Robinsons, a Swiss emigrant family, are shipwrecked on a desert island. They battle pirates, the elements, and even homesickness to turn the wilderness into a paradise complete with a fabulous tree house and menagerie.

Bob Hope Theatre THE GREAT LOVER

Bob Hope finds himself at sea and in a fog in this uproarious comedy. Hope plays a scoutmaster who sails onboard a transatlantic liner with his troop. And much to his chagrin, he finds himself in more mischief than his kids when he encounters a cardsharp, a penniless duke with a beautiful—and unmarried—daughter (played by Rhonda Fleming), and a traveler who's a murderer in this exclusive Disney Channel premiere.

July 26, 30

KATY

In this delightfully animated adventure, Katy the curious caterpillar sets off to see what life is all about. Her colorful, musical journey is given richness and depth with sophisticated animation techniques in this exclusive feature.

July 20, 24, 29; August 2

PARENT TRAP II

Hayley Mills plays twins Susan and Sharon grown up. Sharon, divorced and living in Florida with her daughter Nikki, is about to accept a job in New York. When Nikki calls on aunt Susan in California for help in squelching the move, mistaken identities once again hilariously disrupt the twins' lives.

THE WIND IN THE WILLOWS

Our exclusive series of charming stories about the antics of Toad and his friends depict English-countryside living at the turn of the century. Furniture, tea cups, clothes—even Toad's camera—are constructed exactly as they would have been at that time. Enjoy this fine animated series weekend mornings at 10:00 a.m. (Eastern/Pacific time), followed by "SuperTed."

POPEYE

"I yam what I yam," declares Popeye the sailor man (Robin Williams) in Robert Altman's offbeat musical.

Blown into the port of Sweethaven while searching for his long-lost father, the old salt soon finds himself wooing Olive Oyl, adopting little Swee'pea, and battling the bully Bluto. July 27, 30; August 2

ANDROCLES AND THE LION

Based on the British playwright George Bernard Shaw's satire, this is the tale of a Christian slave (Alan Young) who removes a thorn from the paw of a lion. Later, when the slave is condemned to die in the Colosseum, he finds himself confronting the same lion. July 28; August 1

STILL THE BEAVER

In the Cleaver family, life's trials and tribulations are ever present, but there's always a lesson to be learned from them. And with The Beaver (Jerry Mathers) and Wally (Tony Dow) as likable parents, and June (Barbara Billingsley) as a wonderfully youthful grandmother, the whole family, including a bunch of rambunctious kids, learn life's lessons the easy way — with a lot of laughs. Tune in Monday nights at 8:00 p.m. (Eastern/Pacific time). The family's warm and understanding ways have endeared them to a large Disney Channel audience.

TOBY TYLER OR TEN WEEKS WITH A CIRCUS

Ten-year-old Toby Tyler runs away from his small town to join a traveling circus. He meets fantastic friends, including a chimp named Mr. Stubbs, with whom he shares all kinds of adventures as they strike out on their own and head back to Toby's home town.

SUPERTED

Name a crime fighter who is both courageous and cuddly? The answer is SuperTed, the teddy bear who, through the power of a secret word, becomes a foe of evil doers. SuperTed makes his magical appearance every Saturday and Sunday morning following "The Wind in the Willows."

THE RELUCTANT DEBUTANTE

Director Vincente Minnelli brings his sure touch to this English comedy. Rex Harrison and Kay Kendall are the noble couple trying to steer an American-educated daughter (Sandra Dee) through the whirl of a London social season.

BOB "THE DISNEY CHANNEL" HOPE

That's how Bob identified himself when we recently visited him at his home, and he reminisced about the films coming up on the "Bob Hope Theatre."

His recollections about "My Favorite Brunette," premiering July 12, had mainly to do with the film's location. "Paramount wanted to make that picture and I said I'd make it if they shot it up at Pebble Beach. I wanted to be there so that after work, when the guy said, 'Cut, that's it for today,' I could go out and play nine holes.

About "The Seven Little Foys," premiering June 28, he commented: "That's the type of picture I liked to do because it was natural and human, and you didn't have to force any comedy. It just happened. And I knew all the Foy kids. They were good friends of mine."

His memories of Walt Disney include one big regret: "I had a chance to get 25 percent of Disneyland when they first started, but I thought Anaheim was too far out of town. ABC picked it up, and the rest is history. It was one of my dumb moves. If I'd taken that, I'd have been a rich man today!" 🐻

MEET SUSAN WALDEN OF DANGER BAY

After a busy season of chasing the bad guys, raising a pair of lively children, looking after the mammals at Vancouver Aquarium, and maintaining an adventurous but platonic friendship with the seaplane pilot Joyce Carter, it seemed high time for "Doc" Roberts of The Disney Channel's "Danger Bay" to enjoy a little love life. The object of his discreet affection turns out to be a dazzling green-eyed blonde named J. L. Duval, played by Susan Walden.

"Yes, 'Doc' and I do strike up a romance," the actress told an inquiring Disney Channel Magazine writer recently. "It begins with a quarrel, as very few real-life love affairs do, and develops into a kind of Spencer Tracy-Katharine Hepburn relationship. We're both very strong-minded characters, and our romance progresses at a leisurely pace. After all, 'Doc' and I have other things to do besides sitting around holding hands."

Susan plays a helicopter pilot who buys the Harbour Air charter company, and flies 'Doc' on his usually perilous missions. It's a physically active role, which suits the actress fine.

"I've played many different types of women, and I'm particularly pleased to be playing one who can handle herself in difficult, outdoor situations."

The role keeps her before the cameras six months of the year. The series is shot in and around Vancouver, an area every bit as scenic and exciting as the episodes depict it. The rest of the time she's back home in Los Angeles, working steadily in movies and TV, and brightening shows like "Dalton," "Fathers and Sons," "Mike Hammer" and "Rustler's Moon." 🐻

DAVE NELSON: Life With Ozzie and Harriet

"The very first show we did for television was an adaptation of a radio broadcast," Dave Nelson recalls as he lounges on the verandah of his home in the Santa Monica Mountains. "Rick and I began on the show back in 1948, and even though at the time Rick wouldn't read a script, he wouldn't do a scene unless he had a scriptbook like everyone else. We weren't actors, but somehow — through osmosis I guess — we gained the confidence to relax and play ourselves.

"The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" was always Dad's concept. When we moved to TV, he retained creative control, and he was always the guiding light of the series. He always said that if you relied on a formula or theory as to what people found funny, you were headed for disaster.

"When I look back at our shows, I think 'Ozzie and Harriet' was the ideal program for television. It wasn't a feature, it wasn't heavy, serious drama. It was a mixed reality — we were a real family that also indulged in fantasy. Dad always said that when people came home from work, they didn't want lectures. They wanted entertainment: something that would lift them up and out of their own problems."

Nelson stretches a moment, then adds, "I always thought 'The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet' were perfect for Disney. It's been fun selecting episodes for 'The Best of Ozzie and Harriet,' knowing they'll be appearing on The Disney Channel (Saturday at 6:00 p.m.

Eastern/Pacific time).

"Still, looking back at the later shows," Nelson muses, "there's one thing that still perplexes me. There I was, older than Rick, married, a partner in the law firm — and I lived in an apartment. Rick was married, in school, working part time as a clerk in the law firm — and he lived in his own house! How did that happen?" 🐻

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE WORLD YOU CAN TOUCH THE MAGIC

It's all here in the Walt Disney World Resort. The Magic Kingdom. Epcot Center. Golf. Tennis. Boating. Horseback riding. Camping. Canoeing. In fact, there's so much to see and do, you'll want to plan at least a week's stay at an Official Hotel of Walt Disney World in the heart of all the magic.
